The inductees were announced yesterday during an evening ceremony held in a beautifully transformed event space on the first floor of the Boston Design Center at the conclusion of Boston Design Market. The group will be feted at the annual New England Design Hall of Fame awards event on November 12 at Boston's iconic State Room.

Congratulations to this group of incredibly talented people!

Welcome Fall

New England Home editor and stylist Karin Lidbeck Brent shares her creative ideas for making the most of fall's bounty by creating a welcoming front entry with items from your own backyard and local farmer's market. From a simple DIY wreath to a charming fall garland, Karin will inspire you to get out and decorate this weekend. Visit the New England Home blog for all the details.

Middlesex County Modern

The Concord Museum in Concord,

ABX 2015 - We'll be there—Will you?

ArchitectureBoston Expo (ABX) is one

Mass., just launched an exciting new exhibition called Middlesex County Modern that explores the region's rich history in modernist design. The museum will be hosting a series of events to complement the exhibit. This Saturday, October 10, the museum will host a Middlesex Modern House Tour that will give design enthusiasts an opportunity to tour private homes in Concord, Carlisle, Lincoln, Belmont, and Weston. Architects represented include Walter Bogner, Carl Koch, Edwin Goodell, Marvin Goody, and John Quincy Adams, with seven homes built from the 1930s to the 1960s. 10 a.m.–4 p.m; $70 for members, $85 for non-members. Reservations required, but tickets available day of event. Visit the Concord Museum website for details.
